the Commonwealth, yesterday received a communication from Mr. Peter J. Otey, of Lynchburg, notifying him of his can didacy for Congress from the Sixth district to succeed Hon. Paul C. Edmunds, Jr. The document reads as follows: Hon. J. T. Lawless: Under section No. 4 of the Walton election bill, and in compliance with it, I hereby notify you that I intend to be a candidate for Congress in the Sixth congressional district of Virginia, the elecgressional district of Virginia, the election for which will take place on the sixth day of November next.

Respectfully,
Witness: PETER J. OTEY.
Paul C. Edmunds, Jr.
Please advise me if this is all that is necessary.
Section 4 of the Walton bill, commonly known as the Australian bailot system, prescribes the duties of candidates for office, and reads as follows:

DUTIES OF CANDIDATES.

DUTIES OF CANDIDATES.

"Any person who intends to be a candidate for any office. State or national, to be elected by the electors of the State at large or of a congressional district, shall at least twenty days before such election notify the Secretary of the Commonwealth in writing, properly attested, of such intention, designating the office for which he is a candidate. Such written notice shall be signed by the said candidate, but if he be incapable of writing his proper signature, then some mark adopted by him as his signature shall be acknowledged before a justice of the peace or other officer authorized to take acknowledgements to deeds, and in the same manner. Any person who intends to be a candidate for any office not embraced in the foregoing at any election shall give a similar notice, at least twenty days before such election, to the cierk or cierks of the County or Hustings Courts of the county or counties or the city or cittes whose electors yote for the candidate for such office. No person not announcing his candidacy provided for as above shall have his name printed on the ballets provided for such election. On receipt of the foregoing notice it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Commonwealth to immediately notify the secretary of each electoral board of each county or city of the State or of said congressional district."

The communication from Mr. Peter J. Otey is the first one of its character re-same manner. Any person who memos to be a candidate for any office not embraced in the foregoing at any election shall give a similar notice, at least twenty days before such election, to the clerk of the county or country or the test of the county or country or the corn of the county or country or the corn of the county or country or the corn of the country or country or the corn of the country or country or or the condidate for such office. No person not an above shall have his name printed on the ballots provided for such election. On receipt of the foregoing notice it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Commonwealth to immediately notify the secretary of each electoral board of each county or city of the State or of said congressional district.

The communication from Mr. Peter J. Otey is the first one of its character received by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and the latter has given instructions that a circular letter be issued to the various candidates nominated in the different districts, calling their attention to the duties prescribed in section 4 of the Walton bill.

After the Question of Entes.

question of establishing a freight cers' Association and approved by the Chamber and its Inland Trade Committee, has resulted in the appointment of a select committee for the purpose of carrying out the suggestion.

The committee appointed by the president of the Chamber is composed of representatives of all the leading branches of business, and will meet at an early date to take definite action.

Such bureaus exist in many other trade centres. They have been universally found to facilitate the adjustment of all questions as to rates and transportation facilities, and also to result in greatly developing the business of such centres. The Inland Trade Committee of the Chamber has heretofore handled all matters of this description seriously affecting the interest of the community, and the proposition is not to supersade their valuable functions, but owing to the greater necessity for constant attention and increased activity in dealing with these problems the object is to develop this sphere of usefulness on the part of the Chamber.

An agent of the bureau under the arrangement proposed will be expected to give his exclusive attention to the question of rates as they affect Richmond business, to keep in close touch with the business men of the city and the transportation companies, and with or without the aid of the Chamber and its officers, as the occasion requires, devote himself to the aljustment of difficulties and the interest of receivers and shippers of freight.

After full consideration of the subject, it is the deliberate conclusion that Richmond cannot afford to be now without an active agency of this kind, organized upon a plan similar to that of other cities. They have been found to facilitate the settlement of all issues to the mutual advantage and understanding of both sizes of the situation. of the situation.

HICHMOND LIGHT INFANTRY BLUES the Buckingham Enilding Next Month.

the Buckingham Building Next Month.

Within a few weeks the Richmond Light Infantry Blues will be able to move into their new quarters in the Buckingham, the substantial building which Mr. John R. Williams, the safe dealer, is receing at the corner of Ninth and Cary streets. The brickwork of the three-story structure will be completed in a day or two, and a sufficient number of men will then be set to work to complete the third floor in time to be occupied by the Blues in September. This floor will cover an area of 35 by 130 feet, On the Ninth street side, however, twenty-six feet will be cut off for company rooms, leaving a drill room of 35 by 104 feet.

The various floors in the building are the non-tween strewards touched with a convergence of the standard of the stan

on the evening of Thursday, August 23d. The Blues band will furnish the necessary music, and there will be other attractions which are bound to make the excursion the event of the season. In order to secure the necessary comfort to those who expect to go, the number of tickets to be issued will be limited and from present indications it is safe to say that all tickets will find ready takers, and those who expect to wait until the last moment before they make up their minds whether they will go or not, will find themselves "left."

In the meantime the two companies of the Blues battalion have by no means been idle. The temporary quarters offered them through the kindness of Phil. Kearney Post, G. A. R., in the old City Hall, since they had to give up their armory in the snyder building, were, of course, too small to be used for drilling purposes, but the rooms in that building did very nicely for company rooms and for the storing of the property of the company. Every Tuesday evening company "A" can be seen out on Brood street in front of the new City Hall, where the men are drilled under the command of their experienced Captain Charence Wyatt, who has quite a reputation as drillmaster.

On Wednesday evenings company 'B,' the new organization, is out sunder Captain George Ainslie, an old graduate of the Virginia Military Institute, who deserves great credit for the efficiency which his men have achieved in the comparatively short time since they have become part and portion of the famous Blues.

By the time when both companies enter their new aimory they will be able become part and portion of the famous Blues.

By the time when both companies enter their new aimory they will be able to give some excellent exhibitions in company drills, manual of arms, e.g., and it will be a plessure to those who know anything about military movements to witness the batalion drills to be given under Major Sol, Cutchins.

While no action to that effect has as yet been taken, it is understood that both companies will enter for the competitive drill to be given at the Exposition grounds in October, under the auspices of the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical Society. The men, of course, expect to enter the contest with a view of carrying off the first and second prizes and as one of them told me the other day, the two commands will try very hard to the each other for the first prize.

Policeman John Keegan found James Policeman John Keegan found James Winston, a seventeen-year-old negro, amusing himself on Franklin street, near the First market, yesterday morning, and locked him up at the station. The amusement the negro had chosen for whiling away the time consisted in burying a big needle in the body of an hoffensive and pensive-looking mule, which stood at the curbstone. The funny part was developed when the tortured animal would kick and snort. When the policeman broke up James' fun the negro had buried one of the instruments of torture into the mule's body so far that it could not be extracted. the instruments of torture into the mule's body so far that it could not be extracted without the aid of a veterinary surgeon, who had to be called on to relieve the beast of its sufferings. Injured in a Runaway.

About 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning there was a runaway on Cherry street, in which a young man named Bazzill, who lives at 728 north Fourth street, was painfully hurt.

The runaway horse was attached to the delivery wagon of Evan Snead, grocer, and was frightened by a crowd of small boys. Mr. Bazzill and a Mr. Paul were the occupants of the vehicle. They were thrown out by the sudden tilting of the wagon, and the former fell on his head, receiving some ugly wounds about the head and body, while his companion escaped with only a few light scratches. It was thought that Bazzill's skull was fractured, but the ambulance surgeon who dressed the wounds of the injured man, did not find such to be the case.
